

Sheila Stewart meets with President of the United Nations

Father Miguel d'Escoto and Stewart discuss entrepreneurship worldwide

NEW YORK (Aug 17, 2009) In an effort to gain awareness for women and entrepreneur issues globally, Sheila Stewart visited the United Nations in New York on August 13 -14, 2009.

Stewart's meeting with UN President Father Miguel d'Escoto Brackmann was a powerful step forward for women worldwide and people hoping to gain income by starting their own business, even though they may not know the tools, processes or available resources to become an entrepreneur.

"It was a humbling experience to sit and discuss global issues with such an innovative and visionary leader like Father Miguel. What he has done to bring nations together over the past year through the UN is not only progressive, but fundamental for every country worldwide. I know that moving forward entrepreneurs, specifically women business professionals, have moved one step closer to a positive impact in their lives because of Brackmann's passion and ingenuity," said CEO of Empower 180, Sheila Stewart.

Stewart accompanied top five motivational speaker in the world Les Brown and president of CEO Space Berny Dohrmann in the meetings with Brackmann and other UN officials, diplomats and representatives.
